

American Studies Center has the pleasure to announce a discussion

"America in the World: Polish and American Perspectives"

with the students of National War College

May 13, 2010 at 3:30 p.m., room 317

A group of National War College students and graduates are visiting Poland May 11-15 for their international program. The group are a mix of military from all the services (mostly Lieutenant Colonels) and civilians from other agencies like the State Department or CIA. During their program in Poland the group will meet with the General Staff, National Security Bureau representatives and university students to discuss Polish-American relations in respective fields.
